Harvey, John

There's no such thing as magic. But that doesn't mean we can't use it.

Jack Scatter knows that the mysterious force he wields has a technological source, and so does the man who's trying to kill him. But he'll need to tame dragons--both real and psychological--to harness that power to save himself and two worlds.

Hopkinson, Nalo

So Long Been Dreaming: Postcolonial Science Fiction & Fantasy is an anthology of original new stories by leading African, Asian, South Asian, and Aboriginal authors, as well as North American and British writers of colour.

Writer and editor Nalo Hopkinson notes that the science fiction/fantasy genre "speaks so much about the experience of being alienated, but contains so little writing by alienated people themselves." It's an oversight that Hopkinson and Mehan aim to correct with this anthology.

The Dog Stars

Heppner, Vaughn

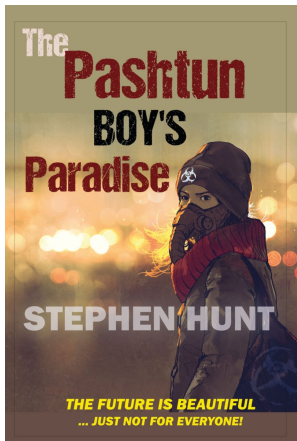

At Omicron 9, Professor Ludendorff unearthed artifacts of the fabled Old Ones.

During a meeting in a subterranean chamber, a portal appeared and aliens attacked, perhaps to kidnap the professor or grab the artifacts.

Maddox's new intuitive sense gave him just enough warning. He saved Ludendorff and rushed into the portal to forestall any more assaults; and thus began his lonely odyssey from one strange place to another.

The Pashtun Boys Paradise

Howey, Hugh

Thousands of them have lived underground. They've lived there so long, there are only legends about people living anywhere else. Such a life requires rules. Strict rules.

There are things that must not be discussed. Like going outside.

Never mention you might like going outside. Or you'll get what you wish for.
